EEP! in competition in Berlin

Montreal (Jan 6, 2010) ---- Eep! a Lemming Film production has been selected to compete in Berlinale Generation section.

Starring the so-called world's "Littlest Angel", Kenadie Jourdin-Bromley from Canada, Eep! features a little girl who happens to have wings! She wants to fly away, but her adopted parents try to keep her under their wings. An escape and hot pursuit follow. The film is based on a well-known Dutch novel and contains special effects by a specialised studio based in Sweden. It will receive its world premiere in Berlin and then released in the Netherlands on Feb 17.
