The Market is taken by The Storm

Montreal (April 22, 2010) - Delphis Films is pleased to announce a slate of sales for the Dutch film The Storm by Oscar nominated veteran Ben Sombogaart. The epic disaster drama has been sold to Fine Films for Japan and Cineplex Development for Taiwan, among others. Negotiations are under way for the US, France and Russia.

The Storm depicts a human drama that took place during the Great Flood that cost the lives of almost 2,000 people and 72,000 more homeless in the Netherlands in 1953, the biggest natural disaster ever happened in the Dutch contemporary history. A young woman loses her infant in the cold waters and is determined to find him back at all costs.

The film was released in the Netherlands in 2009 and ranked #2 domestic film at the box office.

The Storm has been invited to open the Stony Brook Film Festival in NY this coming summer. The film will be screened at the upcoming Cannes Film Market.
